Dr. Abdulian is a native of Los Angeles. He is a graduate of the Tulane University School of Medicine where he pursued a dual degree in Medicine and a Masters in Public Health. He completed his residency at the Case Western Reserve School of Medicine in Cleveland, Ohio. He completed his fellowship in Sports Medicine and Shoulder reconstruction at the University of Southern California. During that year he also received special training in Hip Arthroscopy under Dr. Jason Snibbe of the Snibbe Hip Institute in Beverly Hills.

Dr. Abdulian specializes in arthroscopy and arthroplasty of the knee, hip and shoulder, as well as joint preservation surgery. He also is well trained in trauma and fracture care of the musculoskeletal system. He strives to provide the highest quality of care through cutting edge technology and minimally invasive procedures to improve and maximize the health and wellness of his patients.

In addition to caring for all of your general orthopaedic needs, Dr. Michael Abdulian's practice focuses on sports medicine, arthroscopic surgery of the shoulder, hip and knee, minimally invasive techniques, ligament reconstruction and repair, fracture care, and the treatment of osteoarthritis including joint replacement. He believes in meeting patients' individual needs through comprehensive evaluation and treatment designed to help them achieve an active, pain-free lifestyle. He is devoted to the care, prevention, education, treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries while maximizing function and assuring access to the finest health care possible. He combines leading edge techniques with proven traditional methods to provide his patients with the best orthopaedic care.
