Below is another example of one of the exceptional talks we have lined up for you:

Arin Aboulian, MD completed undergrad at UCLA with a Double Major in Molecular and Cell Biology, and History, after which he attended the Chicago Medical School/ Rosalind Franklin University of Science and Medicine for his medical degree. He returned to Los Angeles to complete his residency in Internal Medicine followed by a fellowship in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at Cedars Sinai Medical Center. Currently, Dr. Aboulian is a member of the Intensivist group for Glendale Adventist thru the Loma Linda Faculty Medical Group, and has an appointment as Clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at Loma Linda University School of Medicine. In addition, he serves as a member of the leadership group at the largest Tele ICU program in the United States at Banner Health's Tele-ICU program where he is involved with delivering critical care to large and small hospitals in the Banner system throughout the United States. His interests include sepsis, septic shock, ARDS and acute respiratory failure, and more specifically delivering appropriate expertise to deal with those diseases in a timely manner using Telemedicine. Dr. Aboulian has actively participated in and presented at several national and international conferences including Chest, ATS and AMWA. He will be speaking on the following topic: "Update on Sepsis".
