

Mike Sarian, the highest-ranking Armenian-American healthcare executive in the U.S., is being honored by the Armenian American Medical Society at its 32nd Anniversary Gala. Mr. Sarian is being recognized for his positive influence as an executive and his extensive community service. He has more than 25 years of executive management experience in healthcare and is currently president of Hospital Operations for Prime Healthcare. Mr. Sarian was born in Lebanon and immigrated with his family to the U.S. when he was a teenager. He earned a Masters in Business Administration from the University of La Verne, College of Business and Public Management, and a Bachelors of Science in Business Administration, Accounting and Finance, from California State University, Los Angeles. Mr. Sarian is also active in various community, charity, and civic organizations and donates countless volunteer hours as an executive board member of the California Hospital Association and is a board member of the Venice Family Clinic. He also actively supports Armenia's hospital, Armenian churches, Armenian schools, ANC, and the ARS. Through his company, he recently helped donate medical equipment in excess of $2 million to hospitals in Armenia. In 2015, Mr. Sarian received the prestigious Ellis Island Medal of Honor for his exemplary contributions to his community.
